Imagine waking up every morning to the sounds of the forest, opening the windows and feeling as though nature is part of your home. In this secluded spot in Icod de los Vinos, time seems to pass at a different pace, inviting you to savour the tranquillity, the light and the surroundings at every moment.

We present a fully renovated, detached two-storey house, situated on a 2,300 m² plot surrounded by nature. The property offers 170 m² of usable space, comprising three bedrooms and three bathrooms, with an architectural design that integrates the landscape into every room of the house.

The renovation has been comprehensive. The electrical wiring is entirely new, as are the water pipes. All windows and openings have been replaced with top-quality joinery, providing comfort and a seamless connection with the outdoors. The design favours open-plan spaces, contemporary lines and a layout designed so that the views of the woodland form part of everyday life.

Each room has been designed to make the most of natural light and enhance the sense of space, creating a serene atmosphere where the architecture and the surroundings interact naturally.

A property aimed at those who value privacy, seek to disconnect from the pace of city life and wish to live surrounded by nature without compromising on a refurbishment carried out to modern standards using high-quality materials.

We invite you to discover for yourself a place where the woodland ceases to be merely the backdrop and becomes an integral part of your way of life.
