Located in the charming coastal town of Alcalá, this 175 m2 urban plot represents an excellent opportunity for both developers and individuals looking to build a custom home or residential project. With the possibility of building up to three floors, it is perfectly suited for those who wish to develop a large single-family residence or divide it into several apartments, depending on the buyer's needs and objectives.

Facing a banana plantation, the surroundings combine the tranquillity of a traditional agricultural area with proximity to all amenities, the town centre and the coast. This contrast between nature and urban convenience adds value to the location.

The scarcity of available land in Alcalá, one of the most authentic and sought-after villages in the south of Tenerife, makes this property an investment with a future. An opportunity to build from scratch in an area with charm, history and high demand.
